DESCRIPTION:

When aromatic character and saltiness come together in your mouth, this signifies that you have entered the “Les Clos”. In its youth, it’s the minerality of the kimmeridgian stone that will be present after half an hour in a decanter. 5 to 6 years of careful cellaring will soften the minerality of the wine that has the structure that best represents Chablis. The Wine undergoes a period of 12 months maturation in oak, but not new barrels so as to respect the best of the wine’s natural freshness.

“Vintage advent” 2014: As its name reveals, the “Clos” is enclosed. Let it be understood that it always needs an hour to breathe before finding its unique mineral voice. Sun-dried stones and powdered oyster shells describe it well. Its taut flavour comes from the dry extract worthy of a red wine, giving you the impression that your mouth has been chiselled in marble. The pure sensation this wine leaves on your palate is similar to the silence you enjoy after listening to Mozart....Regal. A decade will be its best ally.
